SEEN, HEARD & TOLD BY THE EDITOR

We cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard. Acts 4:20

Read the city's proposed budget in this issue. Dont those figures indicate to you - the fellow who has to dig up the tax money - that our present form of government is pretty good?

Read the other ads, because that's about all the reading matter we have this week.

Everyone who has got to know him says that Little Louise's new husband, Harald Rotler, is a mighty smart, courteous young fellow and now, since he has moved from a luxury steamship to a hospital and has got on to the routine of his new post of duty, is doing fine in his new work. I know we up here at the G. C. W. like him.

Pate Brown at Cascilla mailed us an unsigned check which we mailed back telling him Keene Huffington at the bank could not read the signature.

And, speaking of Cascilla, Lacy Thomas said he would come in when he ginned.

Marguerite Burkley and her fine little boy paid a short visit to the GCW office Tuesday. The little boy is what we uster call a "buster."

Grace Pryor Martin has always been one of my favorites, but that fact has not been published. I now officially add her name to the list of young wimmen in which Melba Darras' name is.

In spite of an item on the inside of this issue that our colored "boy", Willie, was going to Arkansas, Willie is now back "home". He thought he had Jesus in a jug, as the saying is, over in Arkansas, but found, on reficetion, that Grenada is "home" to him.

Squire Frank Smith, chief justice of the Beat 3 Leflore County Supreme Court, over here in Grenada to celebrate a dual birthday, that of himself and of his sister, Mrs. Ollie Jennings, broke a number of laws, bringing me a case of beer and Mabel a bottle of wine, and, on top of that, carrying an old fashioned sword cane, former property of the pirate, Jeanne Lafitte. He apologized for not bringing me some snuff. He is a grand old gentleman, to whom we sincerely wish many more happy returns of the day. He is 85, acts like a boy.

If, in the near future, YOU get a blank paper, you should know what that means.

It looks like good times are here here again, as Billy Horton has started advertising again.

"Miss" Maggie Winter of Holcomb paid her dues. Her Oxberry place, like all other lands down in "God's County", has about turned to cotton.

I am unofficially informed that the City Election Commission found sufficient names on the petition, asking for a vote on a change in city government, submitted to it for purging. It is highly likelyy, therefore, that the City Council at its scheduled special meeting Monday, will order a city-wide election on the matter. Simply stated, the people will vote whether to retain its council-manager form of government, or change to a modified form of "strong mayor" government. As for me, I expect to vote to keep what we have for the reason that, I think we have the best form of government Grenada ever had. But, before voting, it is the duty of ALL voters to study carefully our present form and the proposed form.

L. P. Blaylock of Baton Rouge took out a 6 months' treatment under the GCW Rx. Hope it helps whatever ails him.

4 birds with 1 stone: Mrs. James Webb of Forsythe, Ga., Mrs. R. W. Millin of Beat 4, Jim Elliott of Holcomb, and Geo. Leverttte of Rt. 4, paid up, and Irvin Johnson Jr. of Ga. Tech got back on the school list.

MUCH SOIL LOST DUE TO GULLIES

(R. B. Emery, U.S. Forest Service)

Misuse of farming lands in the Miss. Valley is primarily responsible for turning the mighty Mississippi River into a busy freight line - carrying 375 trainloads of soil into the Gulf of Mexico each year. Every day, Old Man River dumps a million tons of soil into the sea, by washing the equivalent of 6 inches of soil off of two 40-acre farms every hour, day and night, year after year.

Unfortunately, many farms right here in Grenada County are losing valuable soil into the streams that drain into the Mississippi. Most of the soil lost here comes from raw gullied areas. Some single farms have as much as 40 to 50 acres of this seriously eroding land.

LaLnd that washes away when put into row crops, should be planted to pasture or trees, before it is lost completely. Only by using the land properly can this tremendous loss of farmland, the backbone of our economy, be prevented.

BULLDOGS OVERPOWER HOUSTON 13-0

Grenada Scores Twice For Season's Second Win

(By Hugh Ketchum)

Scoring twice in the last quarter, the Grenada Bulldogs overpowered the Houston Hilltopoers, 13 to 0, in a Little Ten Conference clash last Friday at Houston before a large crowd, including several hundred local fans. It was the second win for the local eleven.

The Hilltoppers put up a stubborn defense against the Bulldog offense in the first half, which also saw the Grenada backs fumble three timer, once on the Houston 2-yard line and lose the ball each time. The Bulldog attack caught fire in the third period, moving to the Houston seven at the end of the quarter. On the first play of the final period Johnny Goza faked a pitch-out to Ray Freeman and handed off to Vernon Bishop, who drove over left tackle for a 1st down. A few minutes later the Bulldogs marched 62 yards for another tally, with Freeman plunging over from the two. Freeman also kicked the point. The end of the game stopped another Grenada offensive on the Houston 14.

Houston never penetrated the Bulldog 40 during the game as the local line turned in an outstanding defensive performance against the single-wing attack. The Hilltoppers backs gained only 77 yeards by rushing, while losing 22 for a net gain of only 45 yards. Grenada's backs gained 238 yards, losing only one on the ground. Freeman led the way with 153 yards, followed by Bishop, who gained 72. No penalties were called during the game.

Coach Bud Gerrard and Bob Ellard, the backfield coach, are working with the Bulldogs this week in preparation for the invasion of the West Point Green Wave in another Little Ten clash Friday night at Proby Field.

Pilots Greet Governor Of District 3

The Pilot Club of Grenada was host to the Governor of District 3 of Pilot International, Mrs. Lillie Mae Carroll, Monroe, La., at the Monte Cristo at 7:30, Sept. 22. Three members of the Pilot Club of Oxford, Miss. visited the local club, Lucille Taylor, president, Geraldine Rothchild, and Annie Claire Butler. They were welcomed by president, Ann Callaway as were four new members, Faye Parker, Margaret Oliver, Beatrice Beard, and Virginia Hubbard. Mary Elizabeth Saunders, another new member, was unable to attend.

The hostesses were Lucille Cook, candles and Guernsey lilies from Nan McCormick's garden and arranged by Markalita Long. A very unique favor was at each place, a tiny newspaper announcing the arrival of Lillie Mae with the menu, officers and program within.

The hostesses were Lucille Cook, Min Grimes and Clara Criss who compose the Public Affairs Committee. The members drew for seats at the table and a very delightful dinner and social hour followed, at the conclusion of which the group went to the lovely home of Lucille Cook. There the Governor made a very entertaining and inspiring talk on the Meaning of Pilot as a Service Club and told of the plans for a district meeting in Jackson, Oct. 3-4. The members were given a chance to talk informally with Lillie Mae over a glass of delicious punch. After such a pleasant evening, the girls wished that Lillie Mae came more than once a year.

Pheasant Flies Into 1St Baptist Church

One day last week a pheasant flew into the Nursery Dept. of the First Baptist Church.

But after scrutinizing him closely, the church officials decided that no matter how they looked at him he didn't qualify as a prospective member.

At present the church has a program, "374 in '54" which means they have a goal of getting 374 new members in the Sunday School next year.

Leon C. Hirsch, custodian, caught the bird in a corner of the Nursery Dept. Emmett Drinkwater, Negro boy, agreed to give the pheasant a drink of water and a bit of food at his home until the bird's owner could be located.

J. E. Artman has claimed the pheasant.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS
(By Rex R. Blue, SCS)

Mr. Powell Goza of South Grenada has recently become a cooperator of the Grenada County Soil Conservation District. Land capability and land use maps will be prepared for the two farms owned by Mr. Goza. The district will also assist Mr. Goza in carrying out soil and water conservation practices.

Soil Conservation Service personnel have made surveys and soil tests for a secondairy drainage ditch on N. P. Shappley's farm, which is located on Highway No. 8, adjacent to the Calhoun County line.

There are thousands of acres of eroded and steep land in Grenada County that need to be planted to pine. Establishing such areas to woodlands will not only provide future income but will help to reduce runoff and conserve water.

Five thousand pine seedlings are available free to farmers desiring to plant seedlings. The transportation cost of seedlings is 35 cents per thousand. Applications for seedlings should be made to agricultural workers as soon as possible so that orders may be placed for the seedlings.

EASY ON THE HEART-STRINGS
By Fed Robinson

Kitty to Catty:
"I wonder how much longer she is going to wear that old coat."

It would have been easier on the heart-strings had Kitty said:
"Bless her heart, you've got to admire her for trying. Notice how clean and neat her children are dressed."

Andrew and I travelled the "new" No. 7 from Grenada Farms dairy to Coffeeville the other day. I was "lost" all the way.

Come by our office and see our samples of Christmas cards.

Mrs. Howard Gee, one of Cousin Ira's daughters got about a dozen extra copies of the GCW last week also renewed her subscription.

Young Lawyer Lundy came by the office one day last week and got sorter acquainted. Mabel, who talked to Mrs. Lundy sorter fell in love with her over the phone as Mrs Lundy sorter bragged on the GCW which she had been getting in Clarksdale.

Tom King said he was tired of reading the other fellow's GCW, so he subscribed recently. Welcome, Brother King.

When Mr. Crump read in the GCW about our Nell coming by and hugging me, he, as expected, got sorter jealous. Perhaps that is the reason I published the item. Mr. Crump and I are most often on different sides in many issues, but we never fall out about such little things as that. I would not be at all surprised if we are on diffefrent sides of the current issue here in Grenada, yet Mr. Crump knows what office knows how to get out the printed ballots.

"Mr. Crump", often referred to in the GCW, is nobody but Hurd Horton, who aint as young as he used to be. Nobody is.

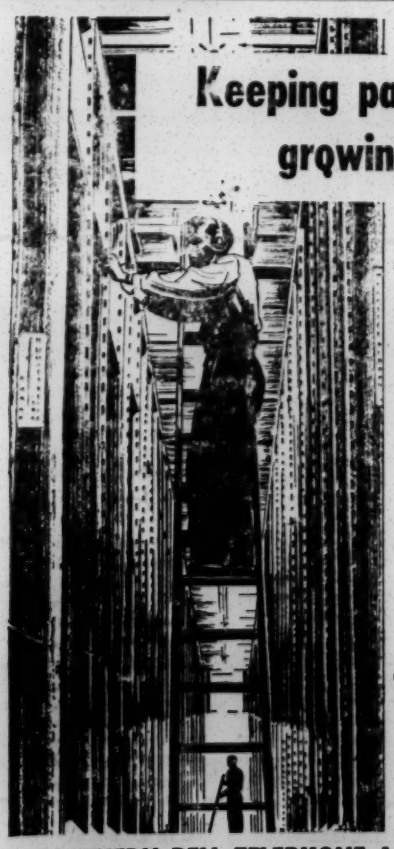
MISSISSIPPI POWER & LIGHT COMPANY
Helping Build Mississippi For Over A Quarter-Century

Keeping pace with Mississippi's growing prosperity is a . . .
TALL ORDER



MISSISSIPPI has grown fast during the past 7½ years, economically, industrially and agriculturally — and with this growth has come an unprecedented demand for telephone service.

Of the many thousands of applications for telephones received by Southern Bell since January 1, 1945, most have been filled. Mississippians now have over a quarter of a million telephones — more than double the number in service in the State in 1945.

This expansion and improvement has made telephone service more valuable. You can call more people and more can call you — yet the cost of service has advanced less than most things you buy.

Since 1945 we have constructed 13 new central offices and 45 buildings; installed huge quantities of cable, poles and other equipment and increased the number of employees by 44%. Serving Mississippi's telephone needs is a tall order — but one we are proud to fill.

SEEN, HEARD & TOLD BY THE EDITOR

"I cannot . . . speak the things which we have seen and heard." Acts 4:20

Preacher Landrum reported that he was used to peasants, but a pHeasant flew into his church the other day, but I told him to dip the pheasant and make a Baptist of the bird.

I thought all the time that the Pritchard getting the GCW at Oakland was Mary Weighate's husband, but he turned out to be one of those Prichards who originally came from Beat 3. Anyway, he paid up.

J. B. Lott, one of the sons of Rev. Joe Lott, former Bishop of Little Texas, came in from Sweetman sady and paid his dues.

The hot spot for local fishermen continues to be the lake above Enid Dam. A lot of tales come from there, a few of them probably true. Andrew and I brought back, as they say, 19. 19 happened to be all we caught.

If the Wildlife League had a few more member-getters like Fisherman-Jeweler Daves, it would soon have to order some more membership cards printed. This organization is the "coming" club of Grenada and Vicinity.

Usually it is a nobo printer who is out of work or hungry that gets my quarter. Sunday, it was a son of a printer. This racket, it seems, has gone into the 2nd generation now.

Whitfield Minga, son of my earliest known friend, Bill Minga, who used to work for wages for papa when I was a little biddy boy, came in sady and took out a subscription.

White jr. has a new wrinkle feeding cats. He usually has a surplus of eggs, so breaks eggs and feeds them to his numerous cats. Our town cat, Buckingham, spurns such plebeian diet.

As a little boy down at Oxberry, I remember seeing a lot of little blue bottles, empty. When I got older I found out that morphine came in those bottles, and that Uncle Billy Hall, mama's uncle, "took" morphine which then could be bought as freely and as openly as Garrett snuff. Uncle Billy stayed with us. He was Grandpaw Hall's youngest brother and, as were all Halls, a great hunter and fisherman. He never married and spent his last years in Beuvoir.

Favorite California Cousins: I got a letter recently from each of you.

Back in my mind, someway or another, I instinctly knew that the Chapmans were some kin to the Cunninghams. Janie, in here Saturday to pick up a paper and her photograph confirmed this. Janie's mother is one of the numerous grand daughters of Uncle Greek Cunningham.

One just dont know who is kin to who, and the best way to do is to do as I do, dont say anything bad about anybody.

Our Willie, the colored "boy" who keeps the interior of the GCW sorter clean and sanitary, has been off visiting in Arkansas and we have missed him a lot. Our place gets awful messy, as do all country newspaper offices. He said they were paying $4 a hundred for picking cotton where he was in Arkansas, and he is going back. Willie had rather piddle than work.

GARDEN CLUB HELD FIRST MEETING OF CLUB YEAR

The Grenada Garden Club officially opened its full session of activity with a meeting Thursdady afternoon in the lovely new home of Misses Willie and Margaret Cuff, with Mrs. T. H. Meek as cohostess. 22 members were present for the meeting.

Roses, dahlias and zinnias from the Cuff garden and from the gardens fo Mesdames Glen Thomason, J. B. Keeton and J. F. Morrison were placed at vantage points in the reception rooms.

On arrival of the guests, the hostesses, assisted by Miss Katie Cuff served ice cream and individual cakes, each topped with a single yellow rosebud.

During the regular business session, which was conducted by the president, Mrs. J. G. Turnage, various committee chairmen gave their reports. Mrs. H. J. Thiel, chairman of the Garden Center, stated that 3 of the required books for the club were now in the library.

Mrs. Ted Revell, membership chairman, submitted Mrs. Hiram West's name as a new member. She was unanimously accepted. The resignation of Mrs. Robert Sharp was accepted with deep regret, and at the suggestion of the club, she was made an honorary member.

Yearbooks for 1953-54 were distributed by Mrs. J. C. Holloman, program chairman.

The club voted not to hold the Flower Show School or the Fall Flower Show, but to concentrate on the Flower Show which will be held in the spring.

Mrs. Holloman announced the program for the afternoon which included a splendid talk on Landscaping Home Grounds, by Mrs. J. B. Perry, Sr.

In conjunction with a thought provoking talk on "Requirements of a Garden Club Member" by the program chairman, members were given score cards by which each could determine her status as a member of the Garden Club.

The next meeting will be held in October at the Community House, with Mesdames J. G. Turnage, E. M. Whitaker, Ted Revell and Glen Thomason as hostesses. Each member is asked to bring a flower arrangement to the meeting.

The meanest thief of the month: A woman invited an old lady who was blind to come have dinner with her. She prepared a meal of corn bread, greens and buttermilk and charged her 75c for it then stole $10.00 pension money from her purse. The cops are looking for her. Wonder what it is about money that makes people do such dreadful things to obtain it? Money of itself isn't anything at all but rather when its translated into things that money becomes of any importance. What THINGS could or would a person enjoy having if bought with money stolen from a helpless old lady? Well, we thought we'd write a whole page about that awful hurtful thing premeditated by the sorry woman who thought it up,but think it best just to leave it on her conscience and say no more about it.

James Hilton, writing about the great Harry Houdini, tells a little story I liked very much. After the great magician's death there was found among his valuable papers an old rumpled letter he had kept for many years. Of all the countless fan letters the great Houdini received over the years he undoubtedly treasured this one letter the most. Here is what it said: "How did you know I needed a rose. I am ill and lonely. I came to your performance tonight to see the people, to know there were others still living on earth, and as I sat there you threw me a rose. How did you know I needed that little gesture of friendship so badly." Well, the great artist probably never saw the lonely old lady again, but his heart was so big and tender that he kept that letter all the days of his life and left it to posterity as one of his treasures.

Preacher Taylor Clarke of Grenada told a little story once that has stuck with me. He was discussing the value of courtesy, and said one time a young ministerial student was trying to hitchhike along the highway in Alabama. He had been standing there a long time and many cars had passed him unnoticed when a big shiny car came along and it too was about to whiz by when the driver was alerted in an unusual way and stopped and invited the young man to climb aboard. The man asked the young man about himself and remarked, "I never pick up strangers on the road, but as I passed I thought I heard you say PLEASE, and that got me." The young man said, "Yes, I was saying I need a ride badly mister - PLEASE!" An it turned out the man in the big shiny car was very rich and money hadn't spoiled him, and learning of the young man's problems of trying to work a farm and go to school without any money, the rich man took over all the financial requirements and sent the young man to college where he finished his studies for the ministry and went out into the world and did many good things for the human race in the years that followed and the whole thing was due to his courteous manner in asking for a ride on a lonely highway - "I need a ride badly mister - PLEASE!" Since the hope of the world lies with the children, we say this word to the kids: start early in life saying please to Mom and Pop and to teacher and to everyone and you will be surprised to learn that one little word will reward you with many of the fine things in life.

Since we are in a story-telling mood tonight, lets hear this little piece about a courageous little sick girl in far-a-way Paris, France. The French Academy in Paris seeks out individuals each year who have shown unusual courage in their daily lives. This year they were considering 15 year-old Jeanne Chaix. The report said Jeanne worked in a pasteboard factory to earn money to care for her family of five people and although she herself was chronically ill, no other member of the family was able to work, so little Jeanne not only earned all the money they had but also provided the courage for the rest of them to live on and for all that she won the award from the group of men who decided Jeanne was the most courageous person in all Paris. Congratulations, Jeanne! —Fed.

We cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard. Acts 4:20

You know, I think "Miss" Sally Irby's boy, Tom Irby, has a lotta sense. As a lawyer, he seems to have made enough money in Poncha City, Okla. to make him and wife pretty independent but, instead of breaking his health and his heart trying to make a lot more money, he and wife seem to try to enjoy themselves by seeing a lot of the world while they are still young enough to enjoy. In the past two days I have received postal cards from him at Valdehon, and Coetquidan, France, places where Tom, I and others spent parts of our tours of duty in World War I. Bet Horn and Pete Embry, when they sorter get half-full, spent a lotta time TALKING about such visits, but Tom MADE these visits. Bet and Pete get nostalgic about these things, but sit here in Grenada and do nothing about them. Tom, on the other hand, does them.

Here's a fellow up in Saluda, S. C., talking about how thin his britches got during the Hoover depression. He said he could sit on a dime and tell whether heads or tails of tht dime was in contact, with his thin britches. But during the coming Ike depression he will have no britches at all, and no dime either.

Just because I said that Bill Hannon"s (Laird) and Preacher Landrum looked alike, the two folks mentioned "called on" me last week, threatening suit. No jury would find me guilty if the members thereof stood the two side by side

Salute to the Past Pledge to the Future

MANY of our neighbors along the Illinois Central are lighting candles on community birthday cakes these days. We enjoy joining in these celebrations, because we've grown for more than 100 years right alongside the communities doing the celebrating.

Our little locomotives of long ago brought the pioneer merchants their bolts of calico and barrels of molasses, and carried to market the products of the town's early farms and factories.

Today, both town and railroad have grown to man's estate. The thunder of high-speed modern freight trains has replaced the gentle puffing and chiming whistles of yesterday's little engines. Town and railroad will continue to work side by side through the years ahead, prospering one with the other.

Whenever your community celebrates an important milestone in its progress, the Illinois Central joins in honoring the pioneers of the past and pledges to work with you toward a more abundant future.

The Christian Line

Lesson for Sept. 20, 1953

EVERYBODY knows the phrase, "party line," meaning a kind of ideas, arguments, plans and policies which are approved by a central authority. We hear the phrase most often in Communist connections; but there are also such things as the Republican line, or the Democratic line, and many others. Is there such a thing as the Christian line? In particular, is there a Christian line of behavior, a Christian way of life which is distinct, an ideal for all Christians everywhere? Or is Christian living a more or less do-as-you-please affair?

Christianity Is Respectable

The letter to Titus in the New Testament comes right to this point. Titus was a fairly young missionary in a very tough area, the island of Crete. Titus may have wished he were in an easier field. "Liars, evil beasts, lazy gluttons" — that was the reputation of Cretans. Even when such people become Christians there is a lot they have to learn. They do not become complete saints overnight. (Did you?) Paul, writing to his young former assistant Titus, advises him, as an advisor of new Christians, what line to take in teaching and preaching to these unpromising Cretan converts. Through Titus the Apostle speaks to parents, ministers, Sunday school teachers, of today. The first thing the modern reader notices is that the Christian line sounds "respectable," like advice from Polonius or Lord Chesterfield. Old men should be temperate, orthodox; old women ought not to gossip; young women should love their husbands and children; young men must exercise self-control; employees (slaves, in Titus' parish) must be honest and give satisfaction to their employers. Citizens must be law-abiding. Everybody should have a decent job and save his money for special needs. Really, the reader may ask, what is so special about all this? Is the Christian line just to be a "decent citizen?" Well, of course that is a part of it. Christianity is certainly not DISrespectability!

Dr. Foreman

Propriety Without Pride

So the Christian line does not go off in some other direction than respectability; but it is by no means the same thing. There are two vital points in which the Christian's way of life is distinctly unique. One is the Christian's attitude to his own respectable conduct. He must never do good in order to show off, neither to man nor to God. He must never be good or do good simply in order to get good in return. He must never think of his own good deeds as a kind of coin by which he pays his way into heaven. Years before "Titus" was written, when Jesus was telling his disciples that they must live above the level of the Pharisees, this demand must have surprised and puzzled his listeners. How could anybody on earth be more respectable than a Pharisee? Well, nobody could. What Jesus was pleading for was (in part) just the difference in attitude toward one's own goodness. The Pharisee was proud of being good; he thought God owed him something. He wanted merit-badges; Jesus called for humility. The Christian's goodness is a response to God, not a demand on God. It is an expression of what we owe to God.

• • •

Mercy and Renewal

This brings us to the other point at which the Christian line is on a different plane from ordinary respectability. It is the effect of a new birth inside. There is great difference between lifting ourselves by our own efforts and being lifted by the Holy Spirit, between goodness home-made and heaven-made. Being respectable enough for a good name in society is some distance short of growing into the likeness of Christ. There is an immense gap between respectability like a topcoat, and the goodness which is in the blood, beating through a changed heart. There is a clear difference between the respectability of a man who looks no further ahead than his own obituary, and the deep-reaching spiritual renewal of the man who lives as an "heir in hope of eternal life."
